

Who is Charli?

I am Charli Coleman and I study Drama and Education at Winchester. While studying at university I've become to realise that there may be aspects of academic life which we, as students are not satisfied with. I believe that my job as Academic Affairs Officer is to notify these issues and make the appropriate authorities aware of them in the hope that something can be done to make changes happen and student life more enjoyable for you.

I am aware that many students have noticed problems and concerns with their courses, lectures, lecturers, modules etc. which they are unsure how to express. I will be able to facilitate a system where these ideas can be heard and acted upon.

As Academic Affairs Officer I will be the voice for the student body in all academic issues, this includes continuing the responsibility for StAR, the System of Student Academic Representation which aims to ensure courses run smoothly now and in the future. I aim to work with students, staff and the Student Union Council to maintain the positive aspects of academic life while dedicating myself to improving any aspect that I can.

I believe my experience will assist me in my role from my interest in my study of Education to previously sitting on the Learning Education Authority board for Kent, offering my opinion and voting on which causes I felt would benefit from the support of the board and were most rewarding to young people.

I am a confident, committed and approachable person who maintains an interest in the academic life that you will experience while studying at university. However if you have any questions about my aims, experience or anything else don't hesitate to email me at c.d.coleman@winchester.ac.uk

Give me the chance to improve your academic experience at Winchester University. Vote Charli!
